If students' jobs necessitate their earlier release and they have completed required credits for graduation, they may be released for a maximum of three periods daily per 6-day cycle and achieve one to two elective credits (depending on the amount of time spent out of school in the workplace).

Prerequisite: Concurrent registration in Diversified Occupations class and completion of at least 18 credits. During the junior year, students must pass all required subjects with a minimum of 70%; and have no more than nine days of absence (including three unexcused days and five days tardy).
